SPI Supplies Silver Conductive Paint (05001-AB, 05002-AB)

Why does my bottle look different?

Silver Conductive paint (SPI # 05001-AB, 05002-AB) was one of the earliest products introduced by SPI Supplies sometimes in the late 1970's. This high purity silver paint has not changed in formulation since that introduction. However, the labels on the bottles have.

Why is that?

For many years we were able to keep the original label, but as label and shipping requirements changed, we needed to update our bottle, first to include NFPA diamonds and now to meet GHS labeling requirements. But rest assured, if you have a bottle with any of these labels, it is still the same silver conductive paint that you have been using all these years.
